Network Security

In these crazy times, cyberattacks against the United States are on the rise. The average household can experience 100 cyber threats every month. As the number of cyber attacks continue to grow, so too, does your need to be protected. The days of having a "safe" internet connection are gone, with the 2x growth of connected devices, cyberattackers are becoming more advanced and skilled at compromising your network. Make sure you are prepared. With ProtectIQ we stop cyber attacks at the router - making it your first line of defense for keeping all your devices on the network secure and reliable - even the most vulnerable like smart TV's, cameras, thermostats and baby monitors.

ProtectIQ constantly keeps your network security updated so you stay ahead of the latest threats and stop viruses from entering your home network.
